Dwyer Made $150 on the Victory of His Giant Three-Year-Old.

The old adage of the turfman that class will tell" was never better Illustrated than at Elizabeth yesterday. Walcott, Yorkville Belle and Don Alonzo, neither of them fit for racing in the strict sense of the word, won their races from very fair Guttenburg platers. They outclassed their competitors as much as does a St. Bernard the mongrel, and the "class" enabled them to win. No one expected to see either Don Alonzo, Yorkville Belle or Kingston go to the post. It was known that they were not up to a race, and the popular supposition was that they had been entered to fill up. Kingston was badly beaten in the opening event. He looked to have a chance at the head of the stretch, but Lambley got him in the deep going next to the rails, and there ANTI-POOL-ROOM BILL PASSED. he floundered about hopelessly. Walcott captured the race at the saug price of 5 to 1. His popular owner, Jimmy Mogood bet over the horse's victory. Bei Demonio, who had shown good class at Guttenburg, was the favorite, but had to be content with second place. Terri-fler, as big as a house, was third.
